

TERMS OF THE COMMERCIAL COURIER; Published weekly every Saturday morning at $3 per annum if paid in advance...

MEDICINES. BOTANIC STORE AND INFIRMARY.—The subscriber grateful for the liberal patronage extended him in the above business...

Cabinet Manufactory. THE subscribers respectfully inform the citizens of Camden, and the surrounding country...

The Catawba Springs. THE Proprietor of this establishment gives notice that he is repairing and fitting it up...

NOTICE. The undersigned having disposed of his entire stock in the Shoe and Leather business to Mr. Thomas R. Sessions...

NOTICE. The Ordinance to prevent Dogs running at large unmuzzled, will be enforced after the 14th May, inst. By order of the Town Council of Camden, J. W. LANG, Recr.

Dr. John Sappington's ANTI-FEVER PILLS, certain and effectual cure for Ague and Fever, Bilious and other Fevers. To be had at B. W. WARREN'S Drug Store...

Final Notice.—The subscriber is constrained to call on all persons indebted to him, or Jones & Marshall for immediate payment...

NOTICE. The notes and accounts of W. B. Daniels, have been placed in my hands for collection, same length of time. I am disposed to keep them as long as I can, unless otherwise requested...

DIVISION ORDER. HEAD QUARTERS, Winsborough, April 20, 1838. JOHN SMART, Esq. having been duly appointed Aid-de-Camp to Maj. Gen. John Buchanan...

Dr. Wm. Reynolds DESIRES to inform his friends and the public, that after an absence of twelve months in Europe, he has returned to Camden and again resumed the practice of Medicine...

BARGAIN.—Being desirous to dispose of my interest in the SUMMER HOTEL in Camden, any person wishing to purchase at private sale...

LIST of Letters remaining in the Post Office at Camden, April 1st, 1838. A—John E. Alexander B—Thomas Bradley, William Baskins, James F. Broadfoot, George F. Bartlett, S. H. Boykin, Kizzy Blair...

NOTICE. The undersigned having disposed of his entire stock in the Shoe and Leather business to Mr. Thomas R. Sessions, this business will be in future conducted by him...

Clock and Watch Maker. THE subscriber respectfully informs the citizens of Camden, and its neighborhood, that he has located himself in this place, 3 doors above the Camden Bank...

BATHER.—A supply of the best quality of Harness, Sole, Upper Leather and Skins, on hand and for sale by SHANNON, M'GEE, & Co.

New Cheap Goods. MRS. E. WARREN, has just received a handsome assortment of Millinery and Fancy Goods, consisting of superior and elegant Muslins, Cambrics, Fancy Prints, Embroidered Aprons, Collars, Fancy Scarfs and Shawls, Gloves, and a complete assortment of Hosiery...

NOTICE. The undersigned having disposed of his entire stock in the Shoe and Leather business to Mr. Thomas R. Sessions, this business will be in future conducted by him...

Boot, Shoe, and Leather Store. THE undersigned having purchased the above stock of Mr. George Alden, will keep constantly on hand a general assortment of Boots, Shoes and Leather, and will so continue the Manufacturing Business as heretofore, at the old stand...

NOTICE. The Ordinance to prevent Dogs running at large unmuzzled, will be enforced after the 14th May, inst. By order of the Town Council of Camden, J. W. LANG, Recr.

Dr. John Sappington's ANTI-FEVER PILLS, certain and effectual cure for Ague and Fever, Bilious and other Fevers. To be had at B. W. WARREN'S Drug Store...

Final Notice.—The subscriber is constrained to call on all persons indebted to him, or Jones & Marshall for immediate payment...

NOTICE. The notes and accounts of W. B. Daniels, have been placed in my hands for collection, same length of time. I am disposed to keep them as long as I can, unless otherwise requested...

State of South Carolina. By his Excellency PIERCE M. BUTLER, Esq. Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the State aforesaid.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT. COLUMBIA, 11th May, 1838. The recent fire at Charleston has done a great deal of mischief to the State, and it is the duty of the Executive to take measures to repair the damage...

Under the circumstances, the late misfortune assumed a decidedly local and not a general national aspect. In various ways it will be felt, and severely felt, throughout the whole State; for the beneficial influence of Charleston and ought to be felt in every part of South Carolina, and the partial prostration of our mercantile and agricultural pursuits...

Now know ye that I, PIERCE M. BUTLER, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the State aforesaid, do hereby call a meeting of the Legislature of South Carolina, to be held at Columbia, on the 1st day of June next...

By order B. H. SAXON, Secretary of State.

Patent Steam Feather Renovator FOR HEALTH AND ECONOMY. The subscriber having purchased the right of the Patent Feather Renovator, invented by Billy & Todd...

NOTICE. The undersigned having disposed of his entire stock in the Shoe and Leather business to Mr. Thomas R. Sessions, this business will be in future conducted by him...

There was committed to the jail of Sumter District on the 2d inst. a runaway negro man about 5 feet high and slender build, having nothing peculiar in his appearance...

TO RENT.—A two-story house in Log Town with every convenient out building, will be rented for the summer months. The situation pleasant and the premises convenient...

DURING my absence from the State, Mr. A. Burr is my authorized agent. GEO. ALDEN.

THE members of the Camden Jockey Club will meet at Maj. Ruffin's Hotel on Tuesday evening, 22d inst. Members are requested to be punctual in their attendance.

FOR SALE.—A new and neat two-horse carriage and Harness. Apply to R. W. ABBOTT.

FOR SALE OR RENT.—The House recently occupied by Mr. Bonney. Apply to March 10 45 of C. J. SHANNON.

Brandy, Holland Gin, Claret, Vinegar &c

DIRECT IMPORTATION. The subscriber has constantly on hand a large assortment of the following articles, on his own importations and for sale on liberal terms...

A certain charge seriously affecting our character, has been made against us by a certain individual, and it is the duty of the Executive to take measures to repair the damage...

One thousand acres of land, more or less, on Little Eye creek, adjoining lands of B. Williams and Margaret Perkins and others—Also six negroes levied on and to be sold as the property of John Williams...

Also, an assortment of superior Wines, a quantity of Sterling Silver Plate and fine China ware, levied on as the property of Jacques Bishop...

Terms Cash. Purchaser to pay for Sheriff's papers. WM. ROSSER, S. C. and Agent for the Mortgagee.

CLOSING SCENE OF THE LIFE OF SIR WALTER SCOTT.—The reader longs earnestly at last, in love and veneration towards Scott himself for the concluding scene...

"On this his last journey Sir Walter was attended by his two daughters, Mr. Caddell, and myself—and also by Dr. Jas. Watson, who (it being impossible for Dr. Ferguson to leave town at the moment) kindly undertook to see him safe at Abbotstford. We embarked in the James Watt steamboat, the master of which (Capt John Jamieson), as well as the agent of the proprietors, made every arrangement in their power for the convenience of the invalid...

"With this scene ended our glimpse of daylight. Sir Walter never, I think, left his room afterwards, and hardly his bed, for an hour or two in the middle of the day, and after another week he was unable even for this."

river being in flood we had to go round a few miles by Melrose bridge, and during the time thus occupied, his woods and house being within prospect, it required occasionally both Dr. Watson's strength and mine, in addition to Nicolson's, to keep him in the carriage. After passing the bridge, the road for a couple of miles loses sight of Abbotstford, and he relapsed into his stupor; but, on gaining the banks immediately above it, his excitement became again ungovernable.

"Mr. Laidlaw was awaiting at the porch, and assisted us in lifting him into the dining room, where his bed had been prepared. He sat bewildered for a few moments, and then resting his eyes on Laidlaw, said, 'Ha! Willie Laidlaw! O man how often have I thought of you! By this time, his dogs had assembled about his chair—they began to fawn upon him and lick his hands, and he alternately sobbed and smiled over them, until sleep oppressed him."

"Dr. Watson, having consulted on all things with Mr. Clarkson and his father, resigned the patient to them, and returned to town. None of us could have any hope, but that of soothing irritation— Recovery was no longer to be thought of, but there might be Euthanasia."

"And yet something like a ray of hope did break in upon us the next morning. Sir Walter awoke perfectly conscious where he was, and expressed an ardent wish to be carried into his garden. We procured a Bath chair from Huntly Burn, and Laidlaw and I wheeled him out before his door, and up and down for some time on the turf, and among the rose buds then in full bloom. The grandchildren admired the new vehicle, and would be helping in their way to push it about. He sat in silence, smiling placidly on them and the dogs, their companions and now and then admiring the house, the screen of the garden, and the flowers and trees. By and by he conversed a little, very composedly, with us, and said he was happy to be at home, that he felt better than he had ever done since he left it, and would perhaps, disengage the doctors after all."

"He then desired to be wheeled through his room; and we moved him leisurely for an hour or more up and down the hall and the great library; 'I have seen much,' he kept saying, 'but nothing like my own, give me one turn more!' He was gentle and to be pitied, and the moment we told him that we thought he had enough of one day."

"Two novels (which Mr. Lockhart hopes will never see the light) had been written at Naples, and the 'last glimpse of day-light,' in what remained of the great novelist's life at Abbotstford was one final effort at the desk."

"After breakfast, on Tuesday, the 27th, he appeared revived somewhat and was again wheeled about on the turf. Presently he fell asleep in his chair, and after dosing for perhaps an hour, started awake, and shaking off sleep we had put about him from off his shoulders, said, 'This is sad idleness. I shall forget what I have been thinking of, if I don't set it down now. Take me into my own room, and fetch me the keys of my desk.'

"He repeated this so earnestly that we could not refuse; his daughters went into his study, opened his writing desk, and laid papers and pens in the usual order, and then moved him through the hall into the spot where he had always been accustomed to work. When the chair was placed at the desk and he found himself in his old position, he smiled and thanked us, and said 'now give me my pen and leave me for a little to myself.' Sophia put the pen into his hand, and he endeavored to close his fingers upon it, but they refused their office—it dropped on the paper. He sank back among his pillows, silent tears rolling down his cheeks; but composing himself by and by motioned me to wheel him out of doors again. Laidlaw met us at the porch, and took his turn of the chair. Sir Walter, after a little while, again dropt into a slumber. When he was waking, Laidlaw, said to me, 'Sir Walter has had a little repose.' 'No, Willie,' said he, 'no repose for Sir Walter but in the grave.' Tears again rushed from his eyes. 'Friends,' said he, 'don't let me expose myself—get me to bed—that's the only place.'

"The end— 'As I was dressing on the morning of Monday, the 17th of September, Nicholson came into my room and told me that his master had a voice in a state of composure and consciousness, and wished to see me immediately. I found him entirely himself, though in the last extreme of feebleness. His eye was clear and calm—every trace of the wild fire of delirium extinguished. 'Lockhart,' said he, 'I may have but a minute to speak to you. My dear, be a good man—be virtuous—be religious—be a good man. Nothing else will give you any comfort, when you